OFFICIATING

England Umpire, Louise Travis, was invited to officiate at the Diamond Challenge in South Africa, and sent the following report on her experience :

I've had a fantastic time at the Diamond Challenge. The netball has been of a high standard with some close games. The tournament has given me the opportunity to experience a different style of netball - a lot more aerial ball than we tend to see in England. We were assessed on each game by members of the International Umpiring Assessment Panel which provided invaluable feedback to continue to progress and develop as an umpire.

It was also my first time in South Africa, so it was great to see another part of the world through my umpiring. Our hosts were very accommodating and made us feel extremely welcome. I'm looking forward to another trip here in the future.
