

Buying a membership for your child

Membership for your child can be purchased in one of two ways (it might be best to speak with your child's club directly to determine how they are planning to operate).

Read on to find out more.

The options are as follows:

- 1. Your child's club will send their members an email containing a link that you will be able to click on to make payment for your child's renewal. (This can also be forwarded to the payee (if not the recipient) i.e. a grandparent or other family member.)

If you have set up a parent account in ENgage and have been linked to your child in the system, you will receive an email from the club with a link to the membership order. You can then click on this link to make payment.

If you have not yet set up a parent account, or you haven't been linked to your child, the email will go to the email address registered to your child's account. In most instances, this will be the parent's email (i.e. yours). However, please contact us on membership@englandnetball.co.uk if you'd like to update these details, and we'll then support you with logging into your child's account in ENgage to access My Orders to make payment that way.

- 2. The club will create membership packages that are available for purchase by anyone who is registered to the club.

If you have created a parent account and have been linked to your child's account, you'll need to sign into your ENgage account and buy the child's membership by selecting Buy Membership at {Your Child's Club}. You will then be asked who you want to buy the membership for. Please select your child before completing the purchase.

If the parent account has not been created, or a relationship link has not yet been created by the club, you'll need to log into your child's account using their ENA ID, select Buy Membership at {Your Child's Club} and make payment.
